VOL. II. RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, JUNE 26, 1867. NO. 272.

THE SENTINEL.

WM. E. PELL, PROPRIETOR.

From the New York Post, (Rad.)

PLAYING WITH FIRE.

The last Congress passed a reconstruction act. It did this because its members felt very sensibly that their constituents demanded at their hands a specific method of reconstruction, a precise declaration of terms, by agreeing to which the people of the Southern States could be restored to self-government as to their local affairs, and be admitted to representation in Congress.

Under the terms of that act registration of voters is now going on peaceably in all the Southern States, and in a few weeks elections will be held for members of constitutional conventions. The Tribune this morning admits—

"The Southern people accepted the military bill manfully, and have endeavored to act under its provisions. Instead of apathy, and wrath, and discontent, we have found them eager and pains-taking in their efforts to reorganize their political system under the military bill. If the work is arrested, they are not to blame; and we have no right to increase the conditions imposed last March. If anything, we should recognize the temper of the South by limiting them."

The question of "limiting them"—tinkering them, that is to say—had better be suffered to rest. Congress sets its conditions; the people of the Southern States, so the Tribune tells us, have "accepted them manfully;" it would seem best, then, to let well enough alone and restrain for awhile the sacred and indomitable rage of the political tinkers. Such a suggestion as this of the Tribune's can only do mischief by raising false expectations in the Southern States, and furnishing an argument to the evil-disposed against reconstruction under the present act, and thus causing still further delays.

But the Generals whom the President appointed to command the military districts in the Southern States asked the President for instructions in regard to some of their duties under the act. When we remember that under the Constitution the President is Commander-in-Chief of the army and navy of the United States, this demand of his subordinates appears very proper.

The President, who deplorably lacks tact, instead of telling them what to do, and what not to do, referred the question to his Attorney General, who took a number of weeks to study the act, and finally, after the lapse of a long time, sent back a very long and foggy opinion, whose chief result, so far, seems to be to set the country by the ears anew, and to afflict those who study it in the hope of enlightenment from it with a hopeless stupor.

But events will not wait, even for Mr. Stanbery; and when a General in command does not receive the instructions he asks for, being a man of action, trained under Grant and Sherman, he takes the responsibility and acts upon his own opinions. Thus, while Mr. Stanbery was cogitating, General Swayne, in Mobile, removed the Mayor and Chief of Police, because the military officer in command there had neglected the chief duty he was employed to perform—to keep the peace, namely. Colonel Shepard ought to have been removed, clearly, if any one, for his negligence was to blame, if any one was to blame, for what General Swayne's official report shows to have been an entirely unpremeditated occurrence, the result solely of the fears, rather than the malice, of the persons present at the meeting.

A week or ten days later General Sheridan removed Governor Wells; why, for what reason, for what crime or offence, the public does not know, for he has never been brought to trial. Wells is a standing disgrace to the Union men of Louisiana who elected him; he is not fit to govern the State; and we can imagine he is just the sort of creature to keep an honest, straightforward, patriotic soldier like Sheridan in a perpetual rage. Receiving no instructions—he had, like a faithful soldier, asked for them—Sheridan finally kicked Wells out and appointed another person to fill his place.

Now, it is a matter of fact that the reconstruction act does not give the generals in command this power of removal and appointment. We listened to the discussions in Congress, and privately among members of Congress, of the act, before it was passed and afterwards, and do not think that any one of those who voted for it understood it to confer such powers upon the generals. Certainly, the very persons who framed and passed the act denied to the President—the Commander-in-Chief of the army—the power or right to depose this same Wells last summer; and it would be preposterous to suppose that they meant to confer upon a subordinate greater authority than they were willing to allow his chief.

Congress gave the commanding generals large powers; they are authorized to arrest and try any one by military commission. Swayne might have so tried the Mayor and Chief of Police of Mobile; Sheridan might have so tried Wells; but as for removing them, without trial, for that they have no authority. Again, as to appointments, the act distinctly provides for the filling of vacancies in the civil governments by election, specifying who should be voters:

"And in all elections to any office under such provisional government all persons shall be entitled to vote, and none others, who are entitled to vote under the provisions of the fifth section of this act and no person shall be eligible to any office under such provisional government who would be disqualified from holding office under the provisions of the third article of said constitutions! amendment."

These Generals then, with the best intentions, have made a mistake. The President would blunder very gravely, indeed, should he for this mistake remove Sheridan, in whose patriotism and good sense the country has so great confidence that even the unmeasured abuse and vile insinuations heaped upon him by the Radical New Orleans Republican have not for a moment shaken its faith in him. But he ought to tell him very kindly that he has made a mistake; that if Wells has done wrong he must bring him to trial; and the country will not, we believe, regret any punishment which may befall the double faced, cowardly creature. And Mr. Johnson should instruct all the commanding Generals that they are not to act outside of the plain instructions of the reconstruction act. For instance, General Sickles has commanded, in South Carolina, the stoppage of the distillation of spirits from grain. But that is no part of his duty.

But, says some one, the generals ought to have this authority. That is a matter of opinion; the fact is that Congress did not give it to them; and a law ought to be obeyed until it is changed. Congress, it is said, will meet in July; it may change the law—though we should think any change now unwise, for it will give occasion for much mischievous misunderstanding.

In the meantime we are sorry to observe a disposition in some quarters to badger the President again. What is the use?—Mr. Johnson has not done anything yet; there is no reason to believe that he means to remove Sheridan or any other of the Southern commanders; suppose he tells them that they have made a mistake, and instructs them in future not to make removals, except by bringing offenders to trial as the law prescribes; what then? Will that comfort Wells, or the "rebel element," as it is called? Will it not rather increase the embarrassment of the evil-disposed? Will they not see that universal suffrage, the thing they aim to keep off and prevent, is brought upon them, of necessity and by the act, as soon as anywhere an elected officer of the civil government misconducts himself and subjects himself to trial and punishment at the instance of the commanding general? Sheridan's haste has in effect put off the exercise of universal suffrage in Louisiana.

The act appears to work well. If it is fairly executed it will yield all the results required and expected by Congress; but if it did not, it is the law, and ought to be obeyed until Congress sees fit to change it.

ASTROLOGY.

THE WORLD ASTONISHED

AT THE WONDERFUL REVELATIONS

MADE BY THE GREAT ASTROLOGIST,

Madame H. A. PERRIGO.

She reveals secrets no mortal ever knew. She restores to happiness those who, from doleful events, catastrophes, crosses in love, loss of relations and friends, loss of money, &c., have become despondent. She brings together those long separated, gives information concerning absent friends or lovers, restores lost or stolen property, tells you the business you are best qualified to pursue and in what you will be most successful, causes speedy marriages and tells you the very day you will marry, gives you the name, likeness and characteristics of the person. She reads your very thoughts, and by her almost supernatural powers unveils the dark and hidden mysteries of the future. From the stars we see in the firmament—the malefic stars that overcome or predominate in the configuration—from the aspects and positions of the planets and the fixed stars in the heavens at the time of birth, she deduces the future destiny of man. Fail not to consult the greatest Astrologist on earth. It costs you but a trifle, and you may never again have so favorable an opportunity. Consultation fee, with birth-figures and all desired information, $1. Parties living at a distance can consult the Madame by mail with equal safety and satisfaction to themselves, as if in person. A full and explicit chart, written out, with all inquiries answered and likeness enclosed, sent by mail on receipt of price above mentioned. The strictest secrecy will be maintained, and all correspondence returned or destroyed. References of the highest order furnished those desiring them. Write plainly the day of the month and year in which you were born, enclosing a small lock of hair.

MANY PERSONS SEEM UNCERTAIN AS to the construction of Gen. Sickles' order against carrying "deadly weapons," and are afraid to hunt squirrels, &c. We are assured by an officer on the General's Staff, that the order is only intended to prohibit the too common practice of carrying concealed weapons upon the person, and to check the lawlessness so prevalent in certain sections of the country.—Union Register.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 26, 1867.

OBSTRUCTING RECONSTRUCTION.

We are glad to percieve that all the Radical journals of the North are not purblind. We observe that several of the most able, recognise in the course of President Johnson in reference to the District Commanders, a plain duty, and who do not unnecessarily magnify the difficulties of the situation.

It is most singular, that any one should charge the President with desiring to obstruct reconstruction. This charge is, however, not more gross and unfounded, than thousands of others which have been manufactured for a purpose against him. Yet it is surprising that a charge which has not the slightest foundation, should be so maliciously and excitingly hruited, with the view of rekindling the fires of discord and hate, as a plea for the exercise of more extraordinary powers on the part of the Congress.

Let us see. Prior to the first passage of the Reconstruction acts, the President evinced the most determined opposition to them. He resorted to every constitutional means to defeat them. But where is the proof that since their passage, he has exhibited any other disposition but to have them executed even to the letter? No such evidence can be produced. So soon as the bills became law according to the forms of the Constitution, the President at once set about their full execution. To leave no room for objection, in the selection of District Commanders, he yielded his own judgment to the views of Gen. Grant and the most violent Radical influence. He did not consult the views and wishes of the real friends of the Reconstruction acts, but they seem to have been selected with more special reference to the views of such men as Stevens, Wade and Sumner, who opposed the Sherman-Shellabarger bill, as too mild in its character. It was claimed that the Acts were not ultra Radical, yet the claims of the Commanders selected, were doubtless pressed by the Radicals, for the reason that they knew they would execute the law on strictly Radical principles. Offensive as this must have been to the President he yielded to the pressure. As the Commander-in-Chief and the appointee of the Commanders, duty seemed to require, at the outset, that he should not send them forth without instructions. Uniformity of administration in the several States seemed to be the most natural and desirable thing, yet the President, yielding no doubt to counsel, lest he should be charged with needless interference, simply appointed them, and ordered the necessary military force for the execution of their duty. There is no evidence that he has, at any time, in any form, sought to interfere in any way with the exercise of the powers granted to them by the law. Complaints, by no means ill-founded it seems, have gone up from injured parties in large numbers, yet the President, in the most delicate way, sought to avoid offending the Commanders. Finally, the Commanders sought his advice and counsel themselves. One of the radical papers thinks that the President showed a want of tact in not answering the questions directly, himself, without submitting them to the law officer of the government, Mr. Stanbery. Could any thing have been more imprudent or impolitic? Situated as the President was, it was impossible, after the District Commanders had begun to exercise and to love absolute power, for him to have given any satisfactory or acceptable counsel to them or to the Radical party. Having yielded his plain right at the outset to give them instructions, he has seen no moment since, when he could have ventured his counsel or orders without a furor. Mr. Stanbery's opinion of the meaning of the law was not sought by the President until his opinion had been asked by the Commanders. So far from its being an offence, or regarded as a blunder in the President, it is plain he never acted more wisely.

But it is intimated that these instructions impede reconstruction. We do not see that they do necessarily. Gen. Sickles makes this the basis of his desire to be relieved. So far from obstructing reconstruction, we do not see how it could have been effected fairly and in accordance with the spirit and meaning of the law, without uniform instructions to all. We cannot see the force of Gen. Sickles' position.

It is represented at the North, that reconstruction was going on swimmingly, that the people everywhere peaceably and quietly and approvingly accepted the entire policy of the District Commanders. This is a mistake. The Southern people have determined to bear everything, however afflictive, in order to a speedy settlement of our difficulties. They see that it is in the power of the government to annihilate them if it so purposes. They are anxious to avoid all collision and trouble, in order to speedy restoration. In their present condition, they see nothing but starvation and ruin, if it continues, and the sooner the situation is changed and the States restored, the better. That is their feeling. Never were a people under a yoke more galling to them, than the execution of the Sherman-Shellabarger bill has been. They have submitted and intend to submit, but that the yoke is acceptable and easy to any Southern white man, is false. Southern Radicals even are as bitterly opposed to the measure, at heart, as any men among us. They bear it and gloat over it, because they think it opens the only door to office and power to them. The Southern people everywhere believe that the harsh execution of the law is unnecessary—that the exercise of extreme powers are excessive and uncalled for. There is no contumacy, no bitter complainings, not a particle of resistance to any thing. The law is being quietly executed with a military force wholly inadequate, if our people were not true to the country and anxious for reconstruction. This single fact ought to strike every one with force, and it does seem to us it ought to impress the District Commanders and the Congress deeply, and excite in them magnanimity and kindness towards a great and suffering people. We cannot doubt that Gen. Sickles feels kindly to the people of the District. The evidences of harshness in his administration, cannot be chargable to unkind or vindictive feelings. Their quiet submission and the good feeling which have prevailed between him and the people, ought to satisfy him that all harsh or ultra measures beyond the precise requirements of the bill are unnecessary, how much soever such measures may be recommended by prejudiced subordinates or disaffected Southern Loyalists.

NEW YORK EVENING POST.

We place on our first page a leader from this decidedly Radical paper, upon the course of the President in regard to Reconstruction, which though incorrect and objectionable in some particulars, takes a much more sober view of matters than such papers as the Chronicle, N. Y. Herald, Tribune and Times.

It should be corrected in one important particular, i. e. as to the action of the Southern people on the subject of universal suffrage. It represents the Southern people as aiming to keep it off. We admit that the Southern people are not convinced that universal suffrage is safest or wisest for the South or nation. In this regard the Southern white people are less Democratic than they have ever been. Among intelligent Southern men, the opinion almost universally prevails, that civil rights and civil liberty are unsafe with universal suffrage.—They believe that restricted, qualified suffrage, is the true safeguard to liberty. But no instance can be pointed out, in which it can be shown, that the Southern whites have been disposed to prevent or hamper or interfere with the exercise of universal suffrage as provided for bythe military bill, since its passage. Especially do we deny, that the purpose or wish is entertained by them, to prevent its exercise by the negroes of the South.

What the Southern people complain of, is the evident purpose, too plainly manifested, to hinder, and hamper and prevent the voting of white men, who are really entitled to vote under the military bill. Moreover, they complain that ultra Radical measures are forced upon us by military power, not embraced in the military bill, and in advance of all civil or constitutional law.—It seems to be taken for granted that ultra Radical principles and measures must ultimately triumph in all the country, and that the object of Congress in placing us under military rule was not to prevent the whites from hindering and opposing negro suffrage, but to indoctrinate the Southern people into more ultra Radical principles and measures, before the civil laws and constitutions actually adopted them. We think they are bad enough and injurious enough to take them when the civil and organic laws of the States establish them, and not to have them forced upon us in advance of the civil law, by the military arm. We beg to call the attention of the Evening Post, and other kindred journals to this important point.

SUPREME COURT.—This body is still in session. A number of distinguished lawyers here are interested in its pleadings. The following decisions are the first which have been made the present term:

By PEARSON, C. J.—In Banks vs. Banks from Pasquotank, no error. In Harrington vs. McLean, in equity from Harnett, demurrer over-ruled. In Sconwald vs. Sconwald, in equity, from New Hanover, error—decretal order reversed—petitioner to be allowed alimony pendente lite. In Price vs. Gaskins, in equity, from Craven, referred for a report of principal and interest to November 1865, upon the payment of amount into office for defendant, he to execute deed to plaintiff.

By BATTLE, J.—In Askew vs. Stephenson, from Hertford, order reversed and cause remanded. In Grissett vs. Smith, from Columbus, judgement affirmed. In State vs. Emma Johnson, from Halifax, no error. In Whitaker vs. Bond, in equity, from Bertie, the order appealed from reversed.

By READE, J.—In Moore vs. Mitchell, from Craven, no error. In Williams vs. Moore, from Hertford, in equity, error in the order appealed from. In Overman vs. Nash, in equity, from Pasquotank, several declarations. In Mitchell vs. Moore, in equity, from Craven, motion to dismiss the appeal allowed with costs.

AGRICULTURE.

Our correspondent at Smithfield, asks us if we would not appropriate a column of the Weekly Sentinel to agriculture. We answer yes. We would gladly appropriate a column daily to agriculture and domestic affairs, which would give several columns to the Weekly. We have several times made the effort to obtain original articles from our own farmers and scientific men in regard to farming and other useful matters but have failed. We have had several pledges to write, but all to no purpose.—No subject is more important at the present time than matters pertaining to farming, horticulture &c. We beg againto hear from our friends on all of these subjects.

The President's visit to Boston has been a continued ovation, except in passing through Philadelphia. Even New England forgot politics and paid a decent respect to the Chief Magistrate of the nation.

THE FOURTH OF JULY IN MISSISSIPPI.—The Fourth of July is to be celebrated in different parts of Mississippi by white and colored people for the purpose of giving mutual assurance of a cordial good understanding between the races. According to the programme in Perry county, the whites are to furnish the supplies and the blacks to do the cooking.

STATE ITEMS.

—— Dossey Battle, Esq., Attorney at law, proposes to publish a weekly paper at Rocky Mount, N. C., to be called the Indicator, so soon as a sufficient subscription can be obtained.

—— We call attention to the fact that a company with a capital of $250,000 has been formed in Wilmington for the manufacture of Guano. It will be equal to Patapsco Guano, and we presume every improvement which science suggests, will be adopted.—We wish it success.

—— The Wilson Carolinian closed its third year on the 22d. It has been continuously successful, and is one of the best Semi-Weeklies in the State. We wish it continued prosperity.

—— The Wilmington Dispatch, opens at length upon the awful attempt of a thief in that city a few night's ago, to commit a trespass upon a lawyer's office. It seems that having no fondness for Blackstone, Chitty &c. he became alarmed and decamped, leaving his own plunder without plundering the office. A fellow might as well attempt to rob an apothecary's shop as a lawyer's office. He would be as likely to get something to kill as to cure —— The saintly Congregational preacher of Newbern, A. A. Ellsworth and a Mr. Robbins, have been lately lecturing at Washington in favor of radicalism.

—— The Wilmington Dispatch, speaking of the freshet in the Cape Fear, says:

We learn that, in consequence of recent rains, the Cape Fear has risen thirty feet at Fayetteville, at which it stood when our informant left. But it was the general opinion that the volume of water poured out from the clouds within the last ten days had not yet affected the river, the present freshet being the result of previous rains.

—— The Statesville American, in alluding to the crops, says:

The wheat harvest is now going on in this portion of the State, and we are pleased to learn that the prospect for a large yield was never better—the wheat-heads are large, well filled and heavy. The corn prospect is likewise promising. Rather too much rain for bottom lands, but upland crops are doing well. Oats never letter, and the same may be said of Irish potatoes and all garden vegetables. The berry crop will be large. Cherries are very abundant, peach crop promising, apples not so good.

We hear the most favorable reports of a large wheat crop in all parts of the country.

The closing exercises of the Charlotte Female Institute will take place on Wednesday and Thursday, the 26th and 27th inst. On Wednesday night the usual Musical Concert. On Thursday, at 10½ o'clock, the Address will be delivered, before the young ladies of the Institute, by the Rev. J. Henry Smith, of Greensboro, N. C.—the announcement of distinction accorded in the different classes—the Address to the Graduating Class.

—— The Wilmington Dispatch notices, under its local head, a series of meetings held at Front Street, M. E. Church, South, thus:

A series of religious meetings have been held during the present week in the Front street Episcopal Methodist Church. Under the ministrations of Rev. Messrs. L. S. Burkhead, John N. Andrews and J. C. Thomas, a renewed interests in religion has been awakened, and as a result, a number of persons have professed conversion.

MASONIC.

Messrs. Editors:—I observed in your advertising columns, by order of a Masonic Lodge, the publication of the suspension for six months of one of its members. Believing that the members of that Lodge were not aware of the manifest impropriety of such a publication, will you be kind enough to insert the following extract from article IV. of the by-laws of the Grand Lodge of North Carolina:

Sec. 15, provides that "in cases of suspension or expulsion, a transcript of the whole proceedings be laid before the ensuing Grand Lodge, to be confirmed or reversed. Sec. 34 says, "Whenever a Lodge shall suspend or expel a brother, notice of the same shall be immediately transmitted to the other Lodges in the State and to the Grand Secretary."

It will thus be seen that no direction is mentioned for giving to the public at large through the columns of a newspaper an account of the action of Lodges in such cases. As bearing upon this matter, please insert the following query and answer, taken from the Square and Compass, the newly started Masonic paper, published in your City. It is needless to say that the opinion of the Editor of the Square and Compass will meet with the approval of every experienced and well informed Mason.

"QUERY.—Has a Lodge the right to publish the name of a suspended or expelled member in a newspaper?

ANS.—Where a member has been expelled for very gross, immoral and unmasonic conduct, and said conduct is notorious, and of such a character as to bring the order into disrepute and injure its usefulness in that locality, it might be proper to publish to the world, that he had been expelled. But in ordinary cases, such as suspension for a given time or indefinite suspension, it is neither right nor proper that the fact should be heralded to the profane world, that Bro. A. B. has been suspended for six months or indefinitely. In all cases of suspension or expulsion, a transcript of the proceedings has to be sent up to the Grand Lodge for approval; and as it is uncertain whether the proceedings will be approved or disapproved, it would be exceedingly improper to publish in a newspaper a notice of any suspension or expulsion before the meeting of the Grand Lodge."

HIRAM.

"Coming from Harlem on the Third Avenue cars this morning, an amusing incident took place. A buxome lady, of African descent, entered the car. The seats were all full, and no one offered to vacate for her.—Two of the gents occupying seats were perusing the Tribune, and one a World newspaper. When the car stopped at Sixty-fifth Street Depot, the gent with The World got up, and politely gave his seat to the lady in question, remarking at the time, "Madame, I would have done so before, but was anxiously waiting for some of those who read the Tribune, as their daily Bibles, to extend to you that courtesy. I read The World."—A general smile and titter went round the car, with the exception of the two Tribune gents, who drooped their heads. Comment is unnecessary.

For the Sentinel.

"CLOVER AND GRASSES" AND CARROTS.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—I am glad to see that attention has been called to the subject of "clover and grasses" in the columns of the Sentinel.

Can you not, Messrs. Editors, give us an agricultural column (or two of them) in the Weekly Sentinel? If you can put so much of your paper at the service of experimenters, dabblers and farmers, as a medium of agricultural information. I think the interest in butter, grapes, wine, &c., &c., would grow.

A correspondent "H." says, in your Daily of the 20th. inst., that a man in Albemarle county has just cut eight tons of clover from five acres—the first mowing. "H." tell us how much seed to sow to the acre and tells us how to prepare the ground; but he does not say at what season the seed should be put in.

I am anxious to raise clover. I want good milk and butter and wish to furnish some good beef to the Raleigh market.—We would all be glad to hear from the Albemarle man under his own signature.—Will he let us know at what time he sowed, how much seed to the acre, on what kind of soil and what changes (if any) he would make in a future sowing?

Who, in North Carolina, has succeeded in raising carrots for winter feed for cows? Do carrots keep better in winter than sweet potatoes and they are an excellent substitute for corn and fodder for horses. But let us have facts. North Carolina facts—and that too under the writer's own signature. Experimenting takes time and money; and those who advise this and that new enterprise, ought to offer the guaranty of a real name.

SUBSCRIBER.

THE UNIVERSITY.

"G. W. P." who writes rather a long, slashing letter to the Cleveland (Ohio) Leader, upon the political and social state of things in North Carolina, among other things gives the following flattering notice of the University at Chapel Hill at the late Commencement:

CHAPEL HILL AND THE N. C. UNIVERSITY.

In company with a number of officers, and in compliance with a cordial invitation tendered by President Swain, I accompanied the President's party to the commencement of the North Carolina University. Chapel Hill, the seat of the college, is situated in Orange county, and is now, notwithstanding the ravages of war, a charming and delightful spot. Its situation is that of calm, quiet, peaceable solitude, embowered by trees, which add by their shade a degree of repose and beauty to the scene. The country around it presents a very fine aspect, being well cultivated and inhabited by an intelligent class of people. The farm-houses are neat and some of them even elegant.—This beautiful town is one of earth's sweetest spots. Gardens of most delicious flowers add beauty and fragrance to the place. The University is the chief attraction, and is a superb building. It is surrounded by a campus of fifty acres and is surpassed by no similar institution in the land. The lordly halls of old Kenyon and even Yale are not superior in architectural splendor to this fine edifice. Here many of the most noted men of the South, including Frank Blair, of Missouri, graduated. In 1859 when President Buchanan visited this institution there were five hundred students, now there are only ninety-eight. The libraries of the college and the societies contain over thirty thousand volumes, and a finer collection of books I have seldom seen. One of the attractions of the campus is a splendid monument, commemorating the learning, piety and devotion of Dr. Caldwell, a native of New Jersey, the first President of the College. The College grounds suffered little from Sherman's army—indeed college and church were seldom injured by those bold and reckless men, who made the famous march through Georgia and the Carolinas.

The President of the University is a gentleman of the old school, and is distinguished for his broad and generous views of all questions. He has presided over the University for thirty years. He was one of the early governors of the State, and laid the foundation of the Capitol. He is a splendid specimen of a man. His figure is commanding, and his fine open countenance wears the glow of health. What Lersen says of the style of one of his contemporaries may be applied to President Swain. He is a man of exact judgement, steady to his purpose, and of strong eloquence, not fervent in his words, but his sense is masculine and vehement. Occasionally he gets off some very brilliant sentences, and many powerful and eloquent appeals to the conscience and the heart. The commencement exercises were excellent, and the young students acquitted themselves handsomely. The college chapel was crowded with the fairest and most beautiful girls of the State. We were reminded of similar gatherings in our own beautiful Ohio. The ball in the evening, at which we were not present, was a brilliant affair. The President and General Sickles participated. The authorities of the college and the students did everything to render the officers of the army at home.

During the visit at this place the President of the United States, Secretary Seward, Randall and General Sickles made speeches on the general condition of the country and of North Carolina in particular. The President, as usual, spoke of his love for the Constitution and his remarks were discreet and to the point. Seward was in the best of humor and said some very witty things. Randall was rhetorical. Sickles looked every inch the soldier. His speech was the best and produced a good effect.—He has all the hauteur and eloquence of Meagher, the Irish orator, and possess some of Meagher's inspired eloquence.

ROCKBRIDGE ALUM SPRINGS.

OPEN JUNE 1.

This favorite and delightful watering-place, having undergone thorough renovation, is prepared to receive visitors. The owners have made every effort in the outfit and equipment to render the place more than ever attractive to those in quest of recreation, while to the invalid its medicinal waters hold out new hopes of health. It may be confidently claimed for them that they have in a great many cases relieved, and in many more cases cured, the following diseases: SCROFULA, and many chronic CUTANEOUS diseases; CHRONIC THRUSH, BRONCHITIS, DYSPEPSIA, CHRONIC DIARRHŒA, DROPSY, AFFECTIONS OF KIDNEY and BLADDER, and PILES; and, in connection with the Hot Baths, CHRONIC RHEUMATISM.

As an appetizer, a tonic, and general restorative to an enfeebled constitution, it is perhaps unrivalled amongst mineral waters. The proprietors have engaged for the approaching season

Bob. Hutchins, colored, charged with stealing wood from B. F. Moore, Esq. Returned to the County Court.

HENDERSON COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE.—We are pleased to learn that this excellent school under the charge of our friend F. A. Fetter, Esq., at Henderson, Granville Co., N. C., is in a flourishing condition. Mr. F. is an excellent instructor. It will be seen that his next session will be re-opened on the 15th of July next.

THE HEAVY RAINS.—All the information we obtain from the effects of the late rains in this County and section, leave scarcely any hope for one-fourth of a crop on many farms. We hear that Swift Creek which is not twenty feet wide at ordinary times, has been during the rains several miles wide at some places.

THE Literary Board met to-day in the Executive office, Messrs. Wiley and Husted present.

PERSONAL.—Among the passengers from Weldon, on Saturday, was our distinguished fellow citizen, Prof. W. C. Kerr, Chief of the Geological Survey of our State. It will be remembered that he received an invitation from the President, to become a member of the annual Board of Visitors to West Point this year. He has performed the duty, and returned.

The compliment could not have been bestowed upon a worthier son of the old North State. Born and educated amongst us, we ought to be proud of him. His attainments in the sciences are such as to rank him high among the scientific men of the nation and of Europe. He is a familiar friend of such men as Guiot, which is proof positive that they regard him as a proficient and profound scholar. The affairs of our public survey may be safely trusted to such men.

He leaves to-day for the mountains, to pursue his geological investigations in that region. Public attention has already been directed to that region by his late report, and gentlemen seeking mineral wealth are penetrating the Western Counties in search of mining land.

LIME AS A FERTILIZER.—It will be seen that Messrs. Powell, Wilson & Co., Catawba Station are manufacturing lime very extensively. They propose to deliver it at Salisbury at the low price of $14 per ton. It has been extensively used for farming purposes and we hope that the present year it will quadruple in quantity all former years.

Lime in itself is not a manure. To be used on a bare soil without vegetable mould or vegetable manures, it is for the time injurious. As a basis however for the general improvement of soil it has no equal. It can always be used with profit to be sown on lands covered with vegetation and turned in. A clover lot dressed with lime and turned in, rapidly improves the soil, and lime is an essential ingredient in the cultivation of wheat and clover. Moreover, judiciously used, it greatly improves all other crops.—Our planters will bear in mind the advertisement of Messrs. Powell, Wilson & Co.

MASONIC.—We think that our correspondent Hiram is correct in his opinion as to the propriety of publishing delinquent members of Lodges. We however simply complied with what seemed to be an official order of a Lodge in publishing the advertisement of the Secretary for pay.

A CHAPTER ON DOGS.—With malice aforethought, the municipal authorities have been making war upon the uncollared dogs of the city, by the agency of Mr. Woodell who finds business so dull, tries to make a dollar by destroying dogs. Such proceedings have put the owners of dogs who are not willing to pay a tax in a bad humour. The most expensive and useless animal in the State, is a mean dog. They are consuming every day more than they are worth, and filling the land with nimble vermine and killing, useful sheep, fowls &c., and robbing hens nests. Rid the land of useless dogs we say, in these hard times.

By the way the Petersburg Express tells the following hard dog story. Its informant must have drawn upon his imagination. It says:

A gentleman of this city went to North Carolina on a business visit last week, and only returned two or three days ago. His duties called him to different counties, and to prominent plantations in the said counties. One of these plantations there employed about one hundred freedmen, around whose huts he noticed an unusual number of dogs. His curiosity was excited, and he made enquiries as to the ownership, use and number of these animals on the plantation. He was told that they belonged to the negroes that they numbered "considerable," but the only use that could be found for them was that of eating. At his request a census of the dogs were taken. The proprietor of the plantation had them all brought to the stable yard and carefully counted, and our informant says he himself counted four hundred and sixty five of them. In all that lot, there was not one valuable hunting or watch dog, but they consisted entirely of cur and mixed breeds. Of a moonlight night, we are tempted to ask, what a concert of howls and barkings, and fights, and growlings, there must be on that plantation.

The Sentinel on the Border, published at Evansville, Indiana, is a very sprightly weekly and daily. It has recently been enlarged and is a beautiful paper. It is on the order of "Brick" Pomeroy's Democrat, and if printed in the South, would be called a rebellious sheet. The Weekly is only $2.

One of our most able and spirited exchanges from the West, is the Louisville Courier, published at Louisville, Ky., by W. N. Halderman. The weekly is $2.50.

THE PEABODY FUND.

The following letter has been addressed to the Superintendant of Public Education for Louisiana on forwarding his report to Rev. Dr. Sears, General Agent of the Peabody Fund. As every thing relating to education is interesting we give it to our readers:

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 22, 1867.

Dear Sir: Nothing that has reached me from the various Southern States has given me such unmingled satisfaction as the perusal of your report, just received. It is, in most respects, just such a document as the Trustees of the Peabody Educational Fund, in like circumstances, would have written. We have already determined that all our efforts shall be to secure the objects you advocate.

We propose to limit our aid to such modes as shall tend to the establishment of a system of public schools. We desire that the system and its administration be in the hands of the people. The only condition that we shall insist on will be that the schools shall be, or tend to become, public free schools. By "free schools" I do not mean schools equally open to whites and blacks. All such matters we propose to leave to the people themselves.

I intend to visit your State next winter, when I shall desire very much to see you, and confer with you about the best way of distributing our aid. The enclosed circular will show that our policy will be to co-operate as far as possible with State and municipal authorities.

We wish to act exclusively through school organizations in existence among the people, and to have no schools of our own. We do not desire to own school houses, to employ teachers, nor to superintend schools. This would involve too much labor and expense, and, what is still worse, would be introducing a foreign element which would work badly in every respect.

To say a word of your system. It appears to be best and most congenial to our forms of government to have the schools supported in part from a State fund, but chiefly by local taxation. Municipalities always administer funds raised by themselves better than those that belong to the State.

The people bear a local tax imposed by themselves for their own benefit much more patiently than a State tax for the schools of the State generally. So, at least, I have found it, as far as my observation has extended. But a State school fund is necessary in order to attach the cities and townships to the State system; for the benefits of the fund can be limited to those who fulfil all the conditions imposed by the State.

Pardon this incidental remark, which was suggested by reading your report. You, of course, know better than a stranger what is adapted to your own State, and need no more advice from me.

My object in writing was to express to you my strong sympathy with the spirit of your admirable report.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,
B. SEARS,
General Agent of the Peabody Educational fund.

A correspondent of the Anti Slavery Standard, writing from Virginia with an evident understanding of the party machinery among the negroes, gives the Republican party fair warning of what is in reserve for them.—The negro vote, he says, will decide the Presidential election. The negroes understand this perfectly, and are laying their plans in accordance with it. "There are several negroes," says the writer, "fitted for the position of Vice President, and that race claim that the second office in the nation shall be filled by a negro." The correspondent fully endorses their claim, and wishes it distinctly understood that it must be conceded or the negro vote will be cast against the Republican party. The party, he says, dare not refuse it, as its defeat, without the negro vote and the vote of northern men who will back their claim, is certain.—New York Times.

ASSESSMENT TO BUY UP CONGRESS.

Special Telegram to the New York Herald.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 21.—A New York national banking-house recently sent out circulars assessing all the national banks one-sixteenth per cent. on their capital to form a fund to buy up Congress and defeat the opposition of the monopoly. Should all the banks respond the fund will amount to over two millions. I have seen the circular.

THE CASE OF COL. FOSTER.

WILMINGTON, June 25.

NEW YORK, June 25.

THE PRESIDENT IN BOSTON—SEWARD ON NORTH CAROLINA.

WASHINGTON, June 25.

During the President's speech at Boston, which was confined to thanks to the people for courtesies to him as a citizen and Chief Magistrate, three cheers for Congress were called for from the outskirts of the audience. The cheers were not given.

During Mr. Seward's speech three cheers for North Carolina were proposed. Mr. Seward said: You may well give three cheers for the State of North Carolina; she was the first State to put forth a declaration of independence in the revolution against Great Britain; you may well give three cheers for North Carolina; she was the State of the eleven who seceded, who went last most reluctantly out of the Union; you may well give three cheers for North Carolina, she was the first of the eleven who seceded, to come back again to the family fireside of the Union, and to-day nothing is wanting for her to resume her ancient, honorable and most patriotic position in the family of the Republic, but the consent of the people of Massachusetts.

Now I know that all that is coming about is coming about very soon. I have seen the earth and the skies full of the elements of fertility of health and of vigor. And I saw in North Carolina the cotton spring up which is to supply next year the mills of Massachusetts. I have seen in New York the wheat growing that is to supply the West Indies and the southern states. I know that mature designs that this whole continent—not merely these thirty-six States, but that this whole continent should be sooner or later within the magic circle of the American Union.

LOUISIANA LEVEE QUESTION—MEETING OF CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, June 25.

The Louisiana Levee question attracts great attention. It is confidently stated that a special committee will be appointed by the next Congress to investigate all matters connected therewith, including the means used to secure the passage of last sessions bill, whereby the Government endorsed the levee bonds.

It is stated that Senator Sherman in a recent dispatch says that he will attend a summer session of Congress if business requires it. He sees nothing yet to warrant the extra session.

The difficulty is apprehended in getting two-thirds. Among those who cannot or will not attend are California one, Connecticut one, Delaware two, Kentucky two, Maine four, Maryland two, Nevada one, Ohio one, Oregon two, Pennsylvania two, Rhode Island one, Tennessee one, West Virginia one, Wisconsin one and Vermont one. Norton, of Indiana will probably be unable to attend. These estimates show three votes short of the two thirds necessary to defeat a veto.

TRIAL OF DUELISTS FOR MURDER.

CHARLESTON, June 25.

The trial of Bony, the surviving principal and both the seconds in the late duel, for murder, was begun to-day, and excites intense interest. An array of eminent counsel is engaged. It is expected that the case will be given to the jury to-morrow.

MEXICAN NEWS—THE TIMES ON SHERIDAN.

NEW ORLEANS, June 25.

A dispatch from Galveston says that an Austrian passed through that City to-day en route North, expressing himself to be an officer of Maximilian. He states that the Emperor had been pardoned on condition that he would leave the country as soon as the ports of Tampico and Vera Cruz are opened for his departure.

The Times, of this morning, commenting severely upon Sheridan's telegram to Gen. Grant, says it contains gross inaccuracies of fact, and errors of logic. If the conduct and language of this remarkable document meets the sanction of any considerable portion of the American people, the Constitution had better be consigned at once to the flames, and the Republic delivered to anarchy and chaos.

KNOW THY DESTINY.

MADAME E. F. THORNTON, the great English Astrologist, Clairvoyant and Psychometrician, who has astonished the scientific classes of the Old World, has now located herself at Hudson, N. Y. Madame Thornton possesses such wonderful powers of second sight, as to enable her to impart knowledge of the greatest importance to the single or married of either sex. While in a state of trance, she delineates the very features of the person you are to marry, and by the aid of an instrument of intense power, known as the Psychomotrope, guarantees to produce a life-like picture of the future husband or wife of the applicant, together with date of marriage, position in life, leading traits of character, &c. This is no humbug, as thousands of testimonials can assert. She will send when desired a certified certificate, or written guarantee, that the picture is what it purports to be. By enclosing a small lock of hair and stating place of birth, age, disposition and complexion, and enclosing fifty cents and stamped envelope addressed to yourself, you will receive the picture and desired information by return mail. OF HARTFORD, CONN.

WEDNESDAY JUNE 26, 1867.

THE DREAM OF LIFE.

BY EUGENE TINDALE.

A little boy, one summer eve,
Sat sleeping in his chair,
When fairy forms began to weave
Bright castles in the air;
A handsome horse, to swiftly ride—
Feather and hat to wear—
And by his side, as loving bride,
A maiden coy—
And then he longed to be no more a boy.

But, by and by, one winter eve,
One feeble knee in prayer,
He dreamed he saw the angels weave
A pathwath through the air,
To where the vaulted arches ring
With songs forever fair—
As loudly sang, of Zion's King,
The heavenly van—
And then he long'd to be no more a man!

A GRAND ESCAPADE OF CATS.

The thriving town of Richmond, (Ill.,) one day recently was the scene of a sensation and a catastrophe. The sensation was caused by the advent of Van Amburg & Co's Mammoth Menagerie. The catastrophe we propose to describe:

On the day in question, an immense crowd had been attracted to see the living giraffe, and others of the menagerie. The caravan had made its grand procession through the streets; the tent had been erected, and a throng of expectant sight-seers were gathered around the entrance, awaiting the opening of the door. Just then an odd looking genius drove up to the lot, seated upon a rickety lumber wagon, carefully boarded over, drawn by a pair of spavined, wind galled, dilapidated steeds, and eagerly inquired for the manager.—Upon that person making his appearance, he was saluted with.

"Hallo, Squire, I've brought you a load of cats!"

"A load of cats to feed your lions on."

"To feed our lions on! The duece you have. We don't feed lions on cat meat, they eat nothing but the best beef."

"Shu, I know better than that; I've read in the papers that cats are the favorite food of lions. Besides, I've got a contract with your agent, for a load of 'em with a revenue stamp onto it, and I guess you can't go back on that." Saying which, the cat merchant produced a greasy slip of paper which read as follows:

RICHMOND, Oct. 5th, 1867.

"This contract witnesseth that I have this day contracted with Simon Wiggins to furnish a load of cats to feed the lions on, for which you will pay him the hereinafter prices to wit: For A 1 Prime Cats, 75 cts.; for Store Cats 50 cts.

JONAS BUNG,

"My friend," said the manager, after reading the document, "you have been imposed upon. I do not know any such person as Jonas Bung and I don't want any cats."

"You lie; now you know you do"—retorted Wiggins, with imperturbable good humor, "you are only trying to beat me down and get 'em cheap. I've got a prime lot—seventy-five of 'em. Just look at em!;" and hastily descending from his perch he commenced shoving at the tail-board of his wagon, to allow the manager a chance to examine his load. By his nervousness, however, he managed so awkwardly that the board dropped completely out, and with a terrible sputtering his entire load of cats sprang into the crowd. A score of worthless curs, that were on the ground, made a dash for the cats, and away they went, helter skelter, among the throng, upsetting women and children, and creating dire confusion on every side. Towards the town the streets were filled with people proceeding to the menagerie, who seeing the commotion, and hearing the shouts at once imagined some terrible accident.

The next instant a rumor spread through the crowd that the Royal Bengal tiger was loose, and a scene ensued that beggars description. "Every one for himself and the devil take the hindermost," was the motto acted on, and a general stampede followed, in which an astonishing display of agility was made. People ran into houses and and bolted their doors; ladies in tilting hoops performed extraordinary exploits in the way of climbing fences, and what, with spluttering cats, yelping dogs, screaming women and howling children, it really seemed for awhile as if Bedlam had broken loose and taken possession of the streets of Richmond. In a short time the truth of the matter became known, and the excitement quieted down. But Mr. Wiggins refused to be comforted for the overthrow of the great expectations he had built upon his cats, and disconsolately drove out of town, muttering terrible vengeance, if he caught him, upon the depraved individual who had palmed himself off as a "cat agent of Van Amburgh & Co.'s menagerie."

HARD ON THE OLD TAR STATE.—At the battle of Kinston, the N. C. junior reserves (made up of lads of eighteen,) were sent to force the crossing of Southwest Creek and drive the enemy away, to make the passage of other troops. This they did very handsomely, but encountering a severe fire, a portion of one regiment sought a safer place. As they were streaming to the rear, they met the Alabama boys and were greeted with shouts of laughter. A general officer, in no laughing mood at their behavior, took steps to stop the disorder, and with his own hands seized one of the fugitives.

General—"What are you running for?"

Junior—"Oh, General, the Yankees were shooting at us!"

General—"Why didn't you shoot back again? Ain't you ashamed of yourself?—You are crying like a baby."

Junior, (blubbering)—"I wish I was a baby. Oh! I wish I was a gal baby!"

J. B. was a stingy old creature, eager for money but he was a zealous member of a church, and ostentatious in his religious exercises. "John," said Catharine to her brother, "what could have made the stingy old wretch a Christian?" "I can tell you," said John, "he has read that the streets of the New Jerusalem are paved with gold, and he is determined to get there."

During the progress of one of the Baptist anniversary meetings at Chicago, on Monday, while E. D. Jones, Esq., of Missouri was speaking, a gentleman in the audience cried out, "Please stop, brother Jones! I can't hear all that these ladies and gentlemen around me are saying!" This was a decided "hit," and brought down the house.

A gentleman once asked a little girl, an only child, how many sisters she had, and was told three or four. Her mother asked Mary when they were alone, what had induced her to tell such an untruth. "Why mama," cried Mary, "I didn't want him to think you were so poor that you hadn't but one child. Wouldn't he thought we were dreadful poor!"

An old bachelor geologist was boasting that every rock was as familiar to him as the alphabet. A lady who was present, declared that she knew of a rock of which he was wholly ignorant. "Name it, madam," cried Cuvier, in a rage. "It is rock the cradle, sir," replied the lady. Cuvier vanished.

GENERAL ORDER NO. 32.

HEADQUARTERS, 2ND MILITARY DISTRICT,
Charleston, May 30.

General Orders No. 32.

1. Any citizen, a qualified voter according to the requirements of the Act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States, passed March 2nd, 1867, and the act supplemental thereto, passed March 23rd, 1867, is eligible to office in the Provisional government of North and South Carolina. All persons appointed to office will be required to take the oath prescribed by the act aforesaid and to file the same duly subscribed and sworn with the Post Commander.

2. All citizens assessed for taxes, and who shall have paid taxes for the current year, are qualified to serve as jurors. It shall be the duty of the proper civil officers, charged with providing lists of jurors, to proceed within their several jurisdictions, without delay, and ascertain the names of all qualified persons, and place them on the jury lists, and from such revised lists all jurors shall be hereafter summoned, and drawn in the manner required by law.

3. All citizens are eligible to follow any licensed calling, employment or avocation, subject to such impartial regulations as may be prescribed by municipal or other competent authority, not inconsistent with common rights and the Constitution and laws of the United States. The bond required as security shall not exceed the penal sum of one hundred dollars. One or more sureties being citizens and worth, in the aggregate, double the amount of the bond, over and above just debts, will be sufficient.

4. The Mayors of cities and other municipal and town officers, and all Sheriffs, Magistrates and Police officers, are required to be vigilant and efficient in maintaining order, and in the discharge of their duties. They will be expected to co-operate with the military authorities.

5. Post commanders may summon to their aid, whenever the ordinary means at their disposal shall not be sufficient to execute their orders, such of the civil officers, and as many of the citizens, within the territorial limits of the military post, as may be necessary, and the neglect or refusal of any person to aid and assist in the execution of the orders of the Commanding officer will be deemed a misdemeanor, punishable by such fine and imprisonment as may be imposed by a military tribunal approved by the Commanding General.

6. No license for the sale of intoxicating liquors in quantities less than one gallon or to be drank on the premises shall be granted to any person other than an Inn-keeper. The number of such licenses shall be determined, and the fees to be charged for each license shall be prescribed and collected, by the municipal or town authorities and appropriated exclusively for the benefit of the poor. If any person shall be found drunk on the premises where liquor is sold, the license may be revoked by any magistrate. The tax imposed by the Internal Revenue laws of the United States is an additional charge and does not excuse the person from the observance of local regulations, nor exempt him from the payment of such other license fees as may be imposed by the municipal or other competent authorities.

7. All contracts hereafter made for the manufacture, sale or transportation, storage or insurance of intoxicating liquors shall within this military district be deemed and treated as against public policy, and no civil action, suit or proceedings for the enforcement of any such contract shall be entertained in any court.

8 In public conveyances on railroads, highways, streets or navigable waters, no discrimination because of color or caste shall be made, and the common rights of all citizens therein shall be recognized and respected. The violation of this regulation will be deemed a misdemeanor and render the offender liable to arrest and trial by a Military tribunal to be designated by the commanding General, besides such damages as the injured party may sue for and recover in the civil Courts.

9. The remedy by distress for rent is abolished. Where lands are leased, or let out for hire or rent, cotton, corn or other produce of the same, when severed from the land, may be impounded, but the same shall not be removed. Any cotton, corn or other produce so impounded shall be held as security for the rent or hire so claimed and may be sold in satisfaction of any judgment for the same, Provided, that any unsatisfied claim for labor bestowed upon the cultivation of such cotton, corn, or other produce, shall, in no case, be postponed to any demand for rent or hire. But to the extent of such claim for labor there shall be a lien on such cotton, corn and other produce having preference over any claim for rent or hire.

By command of
MAJ. GEN. SICKLES,
J. W. CLOUS, A. A. A. G.

Congressional Reconstruction Acts.

For the information of our readers we republish as follows the late reconstruction act of Congress, known as the Sherman-Shellabarger bill. We shall add to it the Howard Amendment, Test Oath and the Supplementary act, all of which will be kept standing until the necessary information they contain shall be generally and fully understood.

THE RECONSTRUCTION ACT.

[Passed over the President's Veto, March 2d, 1867.]

WHEREAS, no legal State governments or adequate protection for life or property now exists in the rebel States of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana, Florida, Texas, and Arkansas; and whereas it is necessary that peace and good order should be enforced in said States until loyal and Republican State Governments can be legally established: Therefore,

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That said rebel States shall be divided into military districts and made subject to the military authority of the United States, as hereinafter prescribed, and for that purpose Virginia shall constitute the first district; North Carolina and South Carolina the second district; Georgia, Alabama and Florida the third district; Mississippi and Arkansas the fourth district; and Louisiana and Texas the fifth district.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of the President to assign to the command of each of said districts an officer of the army, not below the rank of Brigadier general, and to detail a sufficient military force to enable such officer to perform his duties and enforce his authority within the district to which he is assigned.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of each officer assigned as aforesaid to protect all persons in their rights of person and property, to suppress insurrection, disorder and violence, and to punish or cause to be punished all disturbers of the public peace and criminals, and to this end he may allow local civil tribunals to take jurisdiction of and to try offenders, or, when in his judgment it may be necessary for the trial of offenders, he shall have power to organize military commissions or tribunals for that purpose, and all interference, under color of State authority, with the exercise of military authority under this act shall be null and void.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That all persons put under military arrest by virtue of this act shall be tried without unnecessary delay, and no cruel or unusual punishment shall be inflicted; and no sentence of any military commission or tribunal hereby authorized, affecting the life or liberty of any person, shall be executed until it is approved by the officer in command of the district, and the laws and regulations for the government of the army shall not be affected by this act, except in so far as they conflict with its provisions. Provided, That no sentence of death, under the provisions of this act, shall be carried into effect without the approval of the President.

SEC. 5. And be it further enacted, That when the people of any one of said rebel States shall have formed a constitution of government in conformity with the Constitution of the United States in all respects, framed by a convention of delegates elected by the male citizens of said State, twenty one years old and upwards, of whatever race, color or previous condition, who have been resident in said State for one year previous to the day of such election, except such as may be disfranchised for participation in the rebellion, or for felony at common law; and when such constitution shall provide that the elective franchise shall be enjoyed by all such persons as have the qualifications herein stated for electors of delegates; and when such constitution shall be ratified by a majority of the persons voting on the question of ratification, who are qualified as electors for delegates; and when such Constitution shall be ratified by a majority of the persons voting on the question of ratification, who are qualified as electors for delegates; and when such constitution shall have been submitted to Congress for examination and approval, and Congress shall have approved the same; and when the said State, by a vote of its legislature, elected under said constitution, shall have adopted the amendment to the constitution of the United States, proposed by the Thirty-ninth Congress, and known as article fourteen; and when said article shall have become a part of the constitution of the United States, said State shall be declared entitled to representation in Congress, and Senators and Representatives shall be admitted therefrom, on their taking the oath prescribed by law; and then and thereafter the preceding sections of this act shall be inoperative in said State. Provided, That no person excluded from the privilege of holding office by said amendment to the constitution of the United States shall be eligible to election as a member of the convention to frame a constitution for any of said rebel States, nor shall any such person vote for members of such convention.

SEC. 6. And be it further enacted, That until the people of said rebel States shall be by law admitted to representation in the Congress of the United States, any civil government which may exist therein shall be deemed provisional only, and in all respects subject to the paramount authority of the United States at any time to abolish, modify, control or supersede the same; and in all elections to any office under such provisional governments all persons shall be entitled to vote, and none others, who are entitled to vote under the provisions of the fifth section of this act; and no person shall be eligible to any office under such provisional governments who would be disqualified from holding office under the provisions of the third article of said constitutional amendment.

SCHUYLER COLFAX,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.
LAFAYETTE S. FOSTER,

Proposed Constitutional Amendment.

ARTICLE XIV.

Section 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States and subject to the jurisdiction thereof are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty or property without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

Sec. 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice-President of the United States, representatives in Congress, executive and judicial officers of a State, or the members of the Legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State being twenty-one years of age and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such State.

Sec. 3. No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or elector of President and Vice-President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States or under any State, who, having previously taken an oath as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid and comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may, by a vote of two-thirds of each House, remove such disability.

Sec. 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims, shall be held illegal and void.

Sec. 5. The Congress shall have power to enforce by appropriate legislation the provisions of this article.

The following is the oath of office referred to in the 5th section of the bill, and also in the 6th of the Supplementary Bill:

An Act to Prescribe an Oath of Office and for Other Purposes.

Be it enacted, That hereafter any person elected or appointed to any office of honor or profit under the government of the United States, either in the civil, military or naval department of the public service, except the President of the United States, shall before entering upon the duties of such office, and before being entitled to any of the salary or other emolument thereof, take and subscribe the following oath or affirmation: "I, A B, do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I have never voluntarily borne arms against the U. S. since I have been a citizen thereof; that I have voluntarily given no aid, countenance, counsel or encouragement to persons engaged in armed hostility thereto; that I have never sought nor accepted, nor attempted to exercise the functions of any office whatever, under any authority, or pretended authority, in hostility to the United States; that I have not yielded a voluntary support to any pretended government, power or constitution within the United States, hostile or inimical thereto; and I do further swear (or affirm) that to the best of my knowlege and ability, I will support and defend the constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic; that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same; that I take this obligation freely, without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion, and that I will well and faithfully discharge the duties of the office on which I am about to enter. So help me God," which oath, so taken and signed, shall be preserved among the files of the Court, Houses of Congress, or the department to which said officer may appertain. And any person who may falsely take said oath shall be guilty of perjury, and on conviction, in addition to the penalties now prescribed for that offence, shall be deprived of his office, and rendered incapable, forever after, of holding any office or place under the United States.

Approved July 2, 1862.

SUPPLEMENT TO THE STEVENS-SHERMAN-SHELLABARGER BILL.

AN ACT supplemental to an act entitled an act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States, passed March 2, 1867, and to facilitate restoration.

Be it enacted, &c., That before the first day of September, 1867, the commanding general in each district defined by the act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States, approved March 2 1867, shall cause a registration to be made of the male citizens of the United States, twenty-one years of age, and upwards, resident in each county or parish in the State or States included in his district, which registration will include only those persons who are qualified to vote for delegates by the act aforesaid, and who shall have taken and subscribed the following oath or affirmation:

"I, ——, do solemnly swear, or affirm, in the presence of Almighty God, that I am a citizen of the State of ——; that I have resided in said State for —— months next preceding this day, and now reside in the county of ——, or the parish of ——, in said State, as the case may be; that I am 21 years old; that I have not been disfranchised for participation in any rebellion or civil war against the United States, nor for felony committed against the laws of any State or of the United States; that I have never been a member of any State Legislature, or held any executive or judicial office in any State, and afterwards engaged in insurrection and rebellion against the United States, and given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof: that I have never taken an oath as a member of Congress of the United States, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, and afterwards engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof; that I will faithfully support the Constitution and obey the laws of the United States, and will, to the best of my ability, encourage others so to do. So help me God."

which oath or affirmation may be administered by any registering officer.

Sec. 2. That after the completion of the registration hereby provided for in any State at such time and place therein as the commanding general shall appoint and direct, of which at least thirty day's public notice shall be given, an election shall be held of delegates to a convention for the purpose of establishing a constitution and civil government for such State loyal to the Union; said convention in each State, except Virginia, to consist of the same number of members as the most numerous branch of the State Legislature of such State in the year 1860, to be apportioned among the several districts, counties, or parishes of such State by the commanding general, giving to each, representation in the ratio of voters registered as aforesaid as nearly as may be. The convention in Virginia shall consist of the same number of members as represented the territory now constituting Virginia in the most numerous branch of the Legislature of said State in the year 1860, to be apportioned as aforesaid.

Sec. 3. That at such election the registered voters of each State shall vote for or against a convention to form a constitution thereof under this act. Those voting in favor of such a convention shall have written or printed on the ballots by which they vote for delegates, as aforesaid, the words "for a convention;" and those voting against such a convention shall have written or printed on such ballots the words "against a convention." The persons appointed to superintend said election, and to make return of the votes given thereat, as herein provided, shall count and make return of the votes given for and against a convention; and the commanding general, to whom the same shall have been returned, shall ascertain and declare the total vote in each State for and against a convention. If a majority of the votes given on that question shall be for a convention, then a convention shall be held, as hereinafter provided; but if a majority of said votes shall be against a convention, then no convention shall be held under this act: Provided, That such convention shall not be held unless a majority of all such registered voters shall have voted on the question of holding such convention.

Sec. 4. That the commanding general of each district shall appoint such loyal officers or persons as may be necessary, not exceeding three in each election district, in any State, to make and complete the registration, superintend the election, and make return to him of the votes, lists of voters and of the persons elected as delegates by a plurality of the votes cast at said election; and upon receiving said returns he shall open the same, ascertain the persons elected as delegates according to the returns of the officers who conducted said election, and make proclamation thereof; and if a majority of the votes given on that question shall be for a convention, the commanding general, within sixty days from the day of election, shall notify the delegates to assemble in convention at a time and place to be mentioned in the notification, and said convention, when organized, shall proceed to frame a Constitution and civil government according to the provisions of this act, and the act to which it is supplementary; and when the same shall have been so framed, said Constitution shall be submitted by the convention for ratification to the persons registered under the provisions of this act, at an election to be conducted by the officers, or persons appointed by the commanding general as hereinbefore provided, and to be held after the expiration of thirty days from the date of notice thereof to be given by said convention, and the returns thereof shall be made to the commanding general of the district.

Sec. 5 That if, according to said returns, the constitution shall be ratified by a majority of the votes of the registered electors qualified as herein specified, cast at said election, at least one-half of all the registered voters voting upon the question of such ratification, the president of the convention shall transmit a copy of the same, duly certified, to the President of the United States, who shall forthwith transmit the same to Congress, if then in session, and if not in session, then immediately upon its next assembling; and if it shall moreover appear to Congress that the election was one at which all the registered and qualified electors in the State had an opportunity to vote freely and without restraint, fear or the influence of fraud, and if Congress shall be satisfied that such constitution meets the approval of a majority of the qualified electors in the State, and if the said constitution shall be declared by Congress to be in conformity with the provisions of the act to which this is supplementary, and the other provisions of said act shall have been complied with, and the said constitution shall be approved by Congress, the State shall be declared entitled to representation, and Senators and Representatives shall be admitted therefrom as herein provided.

Sec. 6. That all elections in the States mentioned in the said "Act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States," shall, during the operation of said act, be by ballot; and all officers making the said registration of voters and conducting said elections shall, before entering upon the discharge of their duties, subscribe an oath faithfully to perform the duties of their said office, and the oath prescribed by the act approved July 2, 1862, entitled "An act to prescribe an oath of office:" Provided, That if any person shall knowingly and falsely take and subscribe any oath in this act prescribed, such person so offending, and being thereof duly convicted, shall be subject to the pains, penalties and disabilities which by law are provided for the punishment of the crime of wilful and corrupt perjury.

Sec. 7. That all expenses incurred by the several commanding generals, or by virtue of any orders issued or appointments made by them under or by virtue of this act, shall be paid out of any moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated.

Sec. 8. That the convention for each State shall prescribe the fees, salary, and compensation to be paid to all delegates and other officers, and agents herein authorized or necessary to carry into effect the purposes of this act, not herein otherwise provided for, and shall provide for the levy and collection of such taxes on the property in such State as may be necessary to pay the same.

Sec. 9. That the word "article" in the sixth section of the act to which this is supplementary shall be construed to mean "section."
